Birdseye Maple: A Sample of Luxury

Rick Banas

VP of Interwood Forest Products

wide leaves & an expressive eyes make this log an ifpveneer exclusive Birdseye Maple has long been used as a focal point in high end woodwork & furniture. It is among the most expressive veneers in North America due to a combination of curly grain & quilted figuring. Its champagne hues are a suggestion of inherent luxury. Even the eyes are elicited of Champagne bubbles rising to the top of a glass...

The opulence of this veneer is most evident in fine jewelry boxes, or executive suites as fashionable interior accents. With several of these logs in our inventory, you have the unique opportunity to select the look exact you desire.
