Veneer Visions | November 2017

AUTUMN LEAVES

We have a few new leaves in town. Leaves on trees changing colors of course and leaves of veneer coming into the warehouse! If Spring is the seasonal of cleaning and making room then Autumn is the season of bundling up and preparing for winter. Veneer Visions will have all the spice you need in veneer news to keep you warm and up to date on inventory, inspiration, and education. The time may be changing soon but the quality veneers will remain constant now and well into the holidays. Enjoy!

veneer of the month: Wavy Sipo

Sipo is a West African specie similar to Sapeli and African Mahogany. It's uniform grain and medium color make it a popular choice for fine furniture and cabinetry. Typically veneered Sipo has a consistent Ribbon Stripe figure but this log has a more broad, wavy figure. Like Sapeli, Sipo produces large logs this wavy Sipo log is expected to yield approximately 150,000sqft.

news: AWI 2017 in SC!

This year's AWI convention was held in Charleston, South Carolina this past weekend and it's safe to say it was a hit! We sent Architectural Rep., Brooke Roberson to get all the updates and news on our industry. After three days of networking, seminars, plant tours, and lots of fun she's back with a wealth of knowledge to carry into the upcoming year.

Designers rely on vendors to provide them with invaluable information from their respective industries. This convention hosts millworkers, architectural craftsmen, panel and door manufacturers, and a whole host of other supplier members.

With connections to architectural woodworkers all over the country we're ready answer any question and direct you in any way necessary to further your project. It's a team effort!
